

Discover SecureLink Passport

Connect to any SecureLink Enterprise Server – from one place

So, what is SecureLink Passport?

SecureLink Passport is a solution that enables your organization to access any SecureLink platform from a central point of authentication. You'll be able to manage all user access from within your own network, according to your Active Directory (AD) rules.

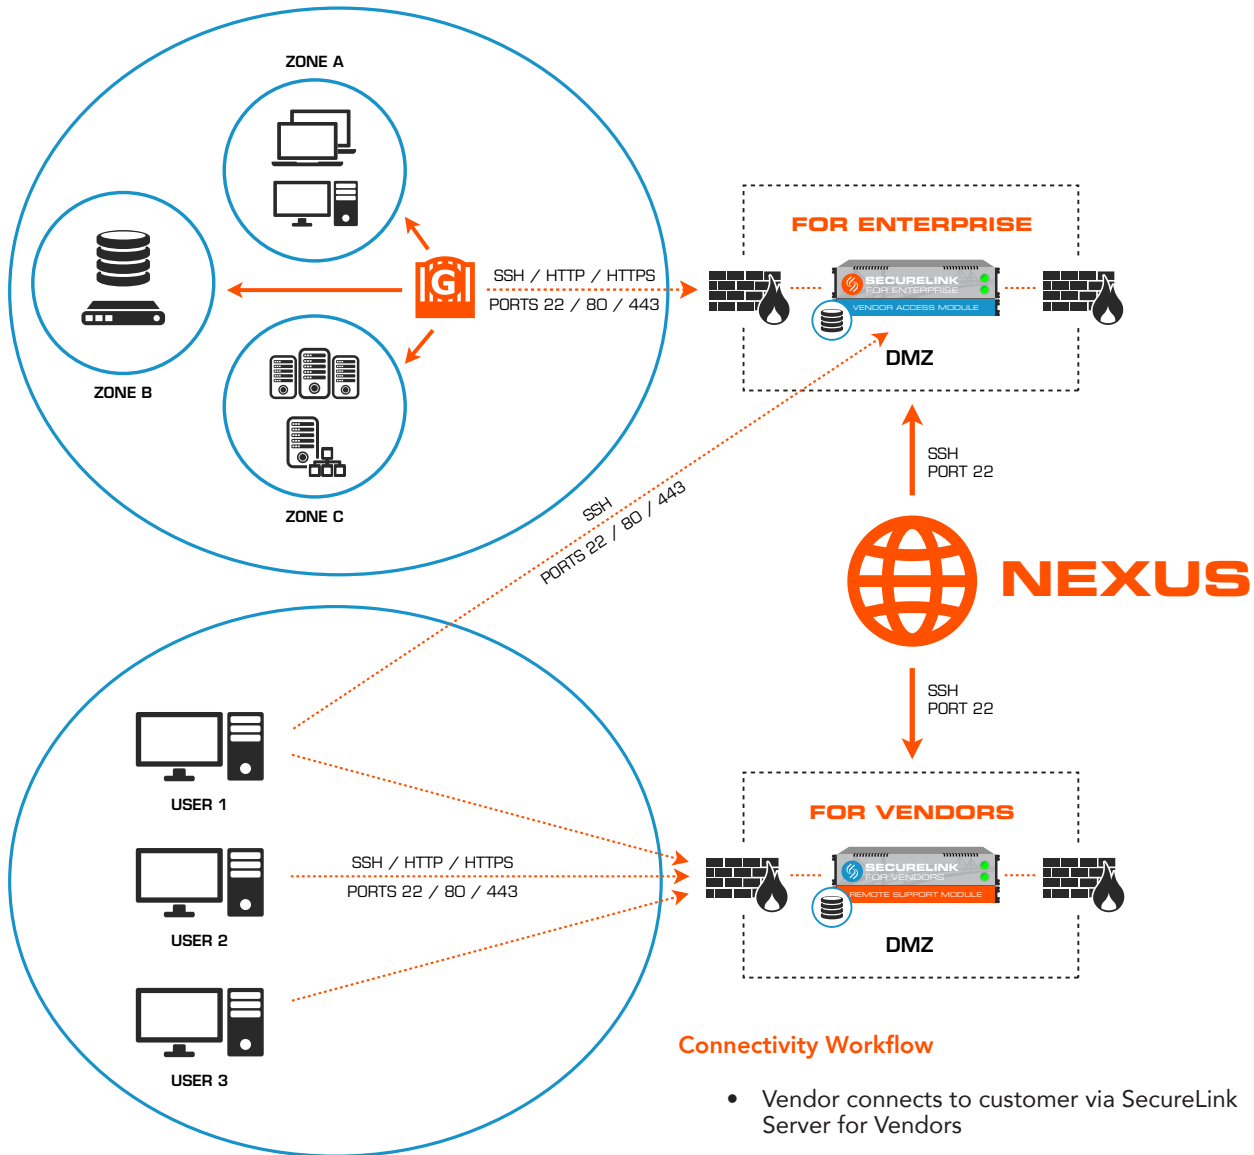

What are the benefits of SecureLink Passport?

When you utilize Passport, you'll be able to:

- Manage access rules from your AD
- Easily import any customer on the SecureLink platform
- Centralize user management in one location to increase efficiency
- Boost security by storing and automatically passing through privileged remote credentials
- Ease complex remote support by leveraging any TCP-based tool, to any operating system
- Gain peace of mind knowing you're in compliance with the latest regulatory requirements

While Passport is initially leveraged to integrate with existing SecureLink Enterprise portals, it can be easily expanded as a remote support standard. This will allow connectivity to any customer, eliminating the need for time-consuming VPNs and less secure remote access tools.

Passport Architecture

Connectivity Workflow

- Vendor connects to customer via SecureLink Server for Vendors
- Passport ensures relationship via encrypted connections to both servers
- If connectivity is allowed - a secondary tunnel is launched from support workstation to SecureLink Enterprise server

About SecureLink

SecureLink is a platform for remote support in regulated industries. We help enterprise technology vendors to easily and securely access their customer networks to deliver remote support and services. We help organizations in healthcare, financial services, government, gaming and other regulated industries to authenticate, restrict, provision and audit remote access by technology vendors and other third-party users.

If you would like to find out more, visit securelink.com/passport

11402 Bee Cave Rd, Austin, TX, 78738 | 512.637.8700 | sales@securelink.com